china loves brands you are a brand. how to turn that equation into money , ? producing is fun great like every idea that you will come up with , it takes a lot of hard work , training, building experience over time. access to money, (the real job of a producer). training with scripts. logistics. agencies etc. get a job at CAA in china. paris. etc. work for a movie company so you can see what it entails. . I like that you are excited and thinking, however, everyone , but everyone believes that they have a great idea. almost everyday for a startup, an app. a movie. some clothes=2 new restaurant, etc each requires learning to work , how money works. its like saying i have a great idea for the next harry potter. a million people a year say that. , the first step is learning to read and write. =br>
