Btw, I was trying to give you and [REDACTED] a heads up by asking about a specific skill set or what exactly she would like to do. = Apparently she answered the question about how she was/wants to=be involved with [REDACTED] by saying something like 'aaah, I don't know. Whatever you like.' The project manager said he was 'underwhelmed'.
<=iv>I am still happy to help as soon as she figures it out. And if this is = favor to you, I'm sure Dean would give her some internship or make a call=to another company anyway, but I thought you should know the initial interview didn't go very well..
