Dear Jeffrey,

Thank you for your message. Your proposal to have the owner still having full access to her house during renovation time and you being very non intrusive over that two to three-year time span might indeed be well received. Although that may not fill the gap between your offer and her selling price, I will let her know your good intentions to have her think about it.

Best

Marella

thank you for your time yesterday . No rush in the middle of your holiday. . . I am very familiar with the emotion of property and the role it plays in a widows life. I might propose that the madam can use the property for the two to three years during its renovation, I could work around her travel schedule with mine. she would have full access to her house. I would stay at a hotel during the construction period ; this way she has sold it , but still "owns" it.

Dear Jeffrey,
Better to talk.
What is your number?

Dear Jeffrey,

I hope this email finds you well, and that Luc made a nice tour of the property.
The owner asked me to send you this information.
As soon as I have more details I'll forward them to you.
Kind regards,
Marella
