Many customers have asked for it, and this week we've released our new folders feature. Folders allow you to organize your medical images and share them more easily. The folders can be found on the left side of your image32 screen.

To create your first folder, move your mouse over the "My Folders" header and click the "add" link. Once you've set up your folder, you can upload medical images as well as other files, and share the whole folder with one person at a time, or use our new "Groups" feature to share with a pre-made group of people.
