I'm more interested in planting some =eeds of thought. Ecuador is working on a nationally approved =ryptocurrency; looks like we have a pilot in the works with India to do a =igital rupee to phase out graft & corruption.

Canada is also looking at doing a digital CDn dollar.

I'm more interested in what treasury thinks about doing a fed reserve =ack digital usd / especially if they felt they could embedd AML/KYC policy=in the coin : it's own of the few legitimate approaches they have to =hange the adoption use cases of bitcoin : a digital USD would t suffer the=volatility of bitcoin and could gain wider adoption and allow them to have=a seat at the table as opposed to regulating bitcoin and driving =nnovation overseas and criminals underground.

Any insights on this would be great.

Ps : still thinking about coming to Malta after =oscow?
