
From: David Gelernter <[REDACTED]>
Sent: Monday, May 16, 2011 2:53 PM
To: jeffrey epstein Subject: 110 proof

Attached tight bullets (3 pages) are highly distilled. I'd love =o discuss, any time you're available. --David

On Fri, May 13, 2011 at 12:52 PM, jeffrey epstein <[REDACTED]<mailto:[REDACTED]>> wrote:

On the right track

Sorry for all the typos .Sent from m= iPhone

On May 13, 2011, at 6:14 PM, Dav=d Gelernter <[REDACTED]<mailto:[REDACTED]>> wrote:

</=>

I hope. =ust a start; done Monday. --David

1.= Every day you read and create digital documents: email, photos, web pages, blog entries, videos, calendar entries, text. If you string those documents chronologically like beads on a neckla=e, you get a documentary history of (the digital aspect of) your life.<=p>

2. Our Stream=ulder makes it easy for you to knock any digital document you choose into the Streambuilder's hopper (as you=92d flick Japanese beetles off your rose bushes into a funnel); those documents move =ut of the hopper into your lifestream.

3. If you'r= looking at an email and you want to put it in your lifestream, just click an onscreen button. Likew=se for photos, videos, web pages. Our goal is perfect simp=icity in adding-to and viewing your Stream: learn it in 30 seconds.

4. Sometimes =ou want to type or dictate a comment just for the stream ("those photos came from Schwartz"; "Just met Pif=el & he seems like a moron, but he mentioned that he knew Max & that's wor=h remembering—ask Eva"). To do that, click or touch an onscreen button; you get a window for text (or a microphone set to record); type or speak your comment; click "done," and the comme=t goes into your stream.

5. Why have a=lifestream? Because your computer-based information and co=munication is scattered over lots of devices (phones, pods, pads, laptops) and applicatio=s (mail, video viewers, Wordpress for blogging). Sometimes yo= need to go back to remind yourself, look carefully, think something over, find details you've forgot. To do that, rewind your lifestream as you would a video, or tell the system "go back to yesterday morning," =93last Saturday," "last August"; then browse your lifestream bead-by-bead, o= fast forward, or whatever you like. Your lifestream is in the Cloud and can be tuned in anywhere,=using any device.

6. Onscreen, =our stream looks like Coverflow (in other words, like the display Freeman and Gelernter invented and patented i= 1996); or like frames in a filmstrip, or tiles in a 3D domino-parade seen f=om in front.

7. Your lifes=ream has one other important aspect. Whenever you add some=hing new, you can check the "public" box. So your stream has two kinds of documents, private and public; both are part of the same timeline, like red beads and blue ones on the same necklace.

8. You can se= the public documents on anybody's stream (you see a string of blue beads only). That makes your stream the same as your blog: your blog equals the =93public" documents on your stream. It also means you can merge any number of streams (i.e. the public parts of those streams) as you would merge decks of cards, preserving chronological order. Stream-merge is a simple but powerful operation, because....

On Fri, May 13, 2011 at 6:57 AM, David G=lernter <<mailto: [REDACTED]>>
david.gelernter@gmail.com <mailto:david.gelernter@gmail.com> wrote:

Yup, Wilde was one funny fruit. But it's true (tho only integrating:=painting, half my life, moving towards some recognition; software design s=ipping back & back & back. Yesterday NYT ran a piece saying tha= Google just had the great idea of letting you log on anywhere & see y= whole, normal data world; John Brockman wrote Markoff pointing out that I=#39;d published a piece in 2000 saying just that--& Markoff had writte= about that piece in the NYT. Those were the days. I'm abnormally good=at some things but the things I'm bad at are fatal, I need a helper (p=rtner. minder) or I don't make any sense. I'm sure there are so=e thing yr not abnormally good at, but brilliance in thinking both in theo=y & practice puts you way ahead of the game & I'd envy you exc=pt, who could? Yr too straightforward to envy. I'll try to reach=you Mon if that's OK.

David

On =ri, May 13, 2011 at 6:39 AM, Jeffrey Epstein < <mailto:[REDACTED]>>

no rush,, you aren;t going anywhere... Oscar wilde

On Fri, May 13, 2011 at 12:23 PM, =avid Gelernter <<mailto:[REDACTED]>> <mailto:[REDACTED]>> wrote:

Yes, & just f=und out my grades for srs are due yesterday or they won't graduate. =Tough bullet pts are a lot more interesting. Could I call you Sun, Mon,=t, w, th, f, any time? We thought we'd seen the last of this auctio= garbage. I've refused to take any of this money & several othe=s have too; we said the stuff should be given to some sort of crime lab, &=mp; stopped there. But seems like it's going on forever, instead=- David

On Fri, May 13, 2011 at 6:08 AM, Jeffrey Eps=ein <<mailto:jepssein@msn.com>> > wrote:
=e <mailto:jepssein@msn.com> <<mailto:jepssein@msn.com>> > wrote:

are you awake/? <<http://www.msnbc.msn.com/id/43018563/ns/us=news-security/>> http://www.msnbc.msn.com/id/43018563/ns/us_news-security/<http://www.msnbc.msn.com/d/43018563/ns/us_news-security/>

--

The information contained in this communication is confidential, may be attorney-client privileged, may constitute inside information, and is intended only for the use of the addressee. It is the property of Jeffrey Epstein

Unauthorized use, disclosure or copying of this communication or any part thereof is strictly prohibited
and may be unlawful. If you have received this communication in error, please notify us immediately by return e-mail or by e-mail to <<mailto:jeevacation@gmail.com>>

<mailto:jepssein@msn.com> <<mailto:jepssein@msn.com>>, and destroy this communication and all copies thereof, including all attachments. copyright -all rights reserved

--

The information contained in this communication is confidential, may be attorney-client privileged, may constitute inside information, and is intended only for the use of the addressee. It is the property of Jeffrey Epstein

Unauthorized use, disclosure or copying of this communication or any part thereof is strictly prohibited
and may be unlawful. If you have received this communication in error, please notify us immediately by return e-mail or by e-mail to jeevacation@gmail.com <<mailto:jepssein@msn.com>>, and destroy this communication and all copies thereof,
including all attachments. copyright -all rights reserved