Getting in touch with these people

<https://www.homepolish.com/about-us>

They basically have a database of clients and designers and pair the client with the designer they think would be most suited to them and their needs.

Feasible on a part-time basis...but have to think to the next step after OPT and whether this would be beneficial or not, haven't thought it through yet.

I know they like parsons and have been hanging around school a few times. Just have to see whether they would take fresh graduates
