propose aggressive takeover-like terms: convertible note that converts into 1/3 of the company at the holder's option with new board configuration that removes DH et al. if a strategic investment happens by X date, the note converts at let's say 15% discount to the valuation. ive spoken with some friends who would participate with you. we have our next call on friday (not today anymore).

Two strong recommendations:

- 1- Jessica Banks. Jess is a very good friend, has written for Seed, worked with us on our science museum project, extremely sharp, MIT, physics, robotics, biology. Also worked at Comedy Central. She would get along very well with you. CV attached (just got it a minute ago).
- 2- Lee Billings. Lee is an Editor at Seed, focuses on physics, cosmology, nano. Very smart, very good writer. Clippings:
