I didn't ask you not to bring anyone. I asked you to keep our deal. You broke it. - the list was a joke, Jenna should have been gone, same for lana, and even you couldn't come up with an excuse regarding Jenna's sister, yet you kept her at 301 anyway. I said I didn't want to come here before the deal is resolved. You insisted. I didn't need convincing to leave, after seeing you couldn't keep a simple agreement with me, I needed convincing to stay! You asked what I would like to do while in Paris so, as I was rubbing your feet, I told you I would enjoy spending time alone with you instead of walking around in groups. You said ok, did nothing, and next day you pick a fight because I dared tell you what I wanted. And you make it sound like I asked for something outrageous. But I am not even surprised, it's just so typical lately.

At 71st, 3rd floor, big bathroom, over my sink, top shelf inside the left mirrored cabinet door is a blue envelope with your initials. I wrote you that note on July 22nd and put it away. I was only going to tell you about it if and when it was clear you backed out of our agreement. You clearly did and I won't be back there so you should get it.
