Title: Re: Arles

I took a train from Paris Thursday...did I not email you those two amazing days? If not, will do..arrived here Thursday for English documentary film director Lucy Walker's "Waste Land" about Vik Muniz shown in a Roman amphitheater.

Staying in a gorgeous country estate rented by English producer Angus Aynsley who was married to Miel de Botton.

Maja Hoffman (catholic Swiss father owner of Hoffman/Roach pharmaceuticals) sponsors this photo festival...she also owns half the town and all the land to the sea...and is married to American Jewish Stanley Buchthal who uses her billions to produce art documentaries...called Art House Films. They are actually a very interesting couple and have invited us to their home, to dinners...to a lunch to watch the branding of the bulls...

Jeffrey- so sorry, thought I sent this last Thursday. It is Monday and I am on my way to Nice Airport to London to New York. Using my air miles so can't take direct flight from Nice...

I had an amazing time in Paris and Arles...this international travel mixing work/film contacts, festivals and just experience many countries is extra ordinary. Had never been to the French countryside...completely different from Tuscany and Sicily....of course it is...it's FRENCH! I will call you in a bit when you get up...I have time in the airport.

Lucy Walker and Angus Aynsley are coming to New York this week for the MoMa premiere of "Waste Land". I am taking them to Southampton for next weekend. My birthday (63) is on Saturday, July 17th. Tory Burch is giving me a birthday lunch in her new/old house...that Howard Gittis owned. Following week is premiere of Lucy's other film, "Countdown to Zero" on the 20th and on night of 21st I go back to St. Tropez to Lady Joy, Denise Rich's boat till the 25th...your release day!! Then going on another documentary filmmaker's sailing yacht, Angela Ismailos.. It has purple sails! Going to Patmos...never been there before....what a life! Meet me in Patmos! Very excited you will be "free at last.". Where are you going? Totally miss you. xoxo Peg .
