hi jeffrey,

sorry, but nobody can come for next week..not even my girlfriend. she can come the following week.

in case i find someone i will let you know.

you said about cabanas no 3 and 2 to do in one the bedroom white with horizontal lines green like that pinto room and the bathroom green, and the other one white with lilac horizontal lines and the bathroom lilac.

today i finished painting white the bedroom in cabana no 3 and tomorrow i will do the bathroom. i didnt do the horizontal lines in the bedroom yet, because i was thinking maybe wait for you to come and see first how it looks without those lines, you might like the way it looks now. the room is not that big and each wall has two doors so i was thinking it might be maybe too much with those lines. before applaing the white i painted the walls a light green so when i put the white i got somehow the same efect like in those samples i did in cabana no 1. i needed soemthing darker under the white because if i would put just white on white primer i woudnt get that effect.

anyway, the room is white and the paint looks good, so maybe wait for you to see first and then decide if put the lines or no?

what do you think?
