

To: [REDACTED] Jeffrey Epstein[jeevacation@gmail.com]
Cc: Woodson Merrell [REDACTED]
From: woodson merrell
Sent: Wed 11/24/2010 12:50:03 AM
Subject: bacteriophage information

Jeffrey,

This should qualify as cutting edge research science with tremendous clinical applications, especially for treatment of drug-resistant infections (? and investment potential).

Best,

Woody

<http://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Bacteriophage>

good description of bacteriophages: history, science, and applications

<http://www.phageinternational.com/about.htm>

website of the research company Phage International (assoc with Georgia, Russia lab): (my cousin Wm Jouris is an advisor in this one)

<http://www.phageinternational.com/ptc.htm>

about Phage International's collaboration with the clinical center in Georgia currently treating chronic resistant bacterial infections with phages

<http://www.biochimpharm.ge/content.php?id=15>

the main Georgian company doing the research and treatment

<http://www.phage.com/home1.html>

website of US research company Omnilytics (some USDA approved salmonella treatment for cattle)