Subject: Nana Engines

Jeffrey,

I just heard from Carlos that Yamaha is coming out with 300 HP engines that weigh 35 pounds less than the 250 HP.

The dealers are non committal on the time frame but they claim they may be coming in from Japan in July but I wouldn't exactly count on it and they estimate the price of the engines alone will be $ 41k without the rigging

I'm waiting on figures for the paint and the replacement of the windows and I will be able to summarize the total cost of the 250 HP engines.

Would you like to wait until we can get better confirmation on the 300 HP engines before we move forward?

Please advise

Thank you

Emad Hanna
