Nevermind. They are not available in the NYC area just yet. I set up a notification for when they release them and will try it out then.

FYI, [REDACTED] was at 301 today when you sent that email about the poor wireless reception. I still have one of the old white MacBooks and had full strength while he had only the first arc in the icon lit. Battery life is getting rave reviews though but that's probably because there isn't enough power to the antennas just yet :).
