Hi Jeffrey!

I think, I know actually that Abram can meet you and [REDACTED] tomorrow.

Jeffrey, as you have heard I am facing this very annoying health challenge. Honestly, I don't think this is leaving me in a good position with all my projects, and with your jobs in particular because of all the traveling required. The facts are that I am due for a surgery and after Friday I am not supposed to move much for a month, let alone any traveling etc... Honestly I don't want to have pressures and be stressed right now, and because of this I've let all my clients know about my condition. I also can't feel that I am not doing my work in the manner you and I both expect of me, especially in light of the message you sent to me yesterday morning.

Abram, [REDACTED] and yourself can certainly meet, but I will have to review Abram's notes, and afterwards I think we will have to have a frank discussion on how, or if, we can continue. I am terribly sorry and I know this has come at a horrible time for you, but I really need to focus on remaining healthy or my business will suffer!

Let us talk later. Until then, I remain,

Yours truly,
Robert
