I figured you would think I am scheming something. I would never put wrong evacuation instruction cards on certain seats :)
No scheme.

LV plans to fly the plane on tuesday morning so we are flying to St. Louis tomorrow evening. Thank you again for the trip.

Do you mind if I stay longer after we land and organize the plane for a bit? It could use fresh bathroom products, medicine, pens; drawers and closets need organizing. I remember you asking me where the fire extinguisher was...maybe I can make a card with passenger safety equipment locations+instructions. You should always know where those things are on the plane. I could even have real custom cabin safety cards made if you want, <http://www.safeair-usa.com/>

I promise not to fly it when everyone leaves ;-) I am just trying to help and I have time all day on tuesday

Let me know.
