The meeting with Geir went very well.

He's willing to help.

I'll send him my CV today and he will talk with the person in charge of sales and distribution to see if she is willing to train me. There are only 4 people in the office now...and for the one opening in september he'll need around 10 people.

But he said he can't give a job there unless I do a strong training before.

He said he'll put me in touch with a romanian lady who knows everything in London and she might help me a lot as well.

He admires you a lot! He asked me how we've met...

Thank you!
