Subject: Conference line for interviews

Next week, as I said, we want to start with some of those interviews. At least one a week.

We have set up a dial-in conference line for you and anyone you wish to interview and talk with, and it will be automatically recorded. And, then, we can have it transcribed and properly edited, then post after review.

Should make the process easy and fun.

Google page is "starting" to get cleaned up. Noticed that the science site, sports stuff is now on page one, doctor has moved up, and we need to get the charity site up there as well. And, wait till some of the other things start clicking in, and they will all be gone, including the one from dailybeast and Huffington. They are very strongly linked sites, and it takes more than 400 links to offset them. And google's spiders have to find our links.
