flying to ny on friday... B. is coming to pick me up... feeling weird about the situation with B. something wrong... he got my ticket, but (!!!) when i was booking it online (i found a really cheap one - 320 Euro) he asked me if i could pay for it with my credit card (cause he was afraid of online booking - though he does it all the time) and he would give me the money (which he would never do)... i just said no and we booked it with his card... did i make a mistake?

miss you
