Jeffrey.. I am looking into my fall travel and I don't know if you were serious about maybe taking a few days to go to new zealand.. There is a cosmology meeting in Tokyo end of sept that I wouldn't go to otherwise but if you wanted to attend it for a day we could fly there for a day, listen to some lectures (maybe one by me), then go on to NZ for some walking.. or alternatively go to NZ oct 11 or so (I would be in LA and could meet you there) and then swing by australia and pick up nancy to return to US as she and I will be going to FLA then before heading on to halloween elsewhere.. I only mention these things because you indicated you might want to do something and I was thinking of alternatives.. no problem if a no go. :)

also, I am thinking of the Origins Scientific Advisory committee meeting in St. Thomas around Nov 13th or so.. would that work for you.. flying out the 12-14 members.. putting them up at ritz, or something, and having meetings either there or at your island?

Heading to NYC tomorrow.. see you soon.

Lawrence
