Since we will now be using The M/V Commander, we will be getting all 120 trees at the same time, so storage, plant care and maintinence becomes more critical, since we no longer have the luxury of planting the palms in waves/ sets as they arrive on the General II.

So We will have to dig holes, to "Temporarily" house/store the trees until we can bring them to their final resting place = in the holes we are prepairing for them.

With your consent,

I would like to use the area where now sits a " rough/ dry stacked " wall to make a long trench to put the 50 coconut palms, so we can pull them and plant them as we need them.

This area took alot of salt water and sand and needs to be redone anyways, so after the palms are moved we can redo the wall and planting bed to your liking.
