

To: Jeffrey Epstein[jeevacation@gmail.com]
From: jessica banks
Sent: Mon 9/27/2010 3:39:41 PM
Subject: blurb on computer programmer / trader friend

His name is john crouch and he is now a Director in the Global Arbitrage Group at Credit Suisse where he runs a group focused on automated FX and fixed income proprietary trading.

He is also on the board of advisors at another of my friend's company (Broadway Technology).

here is his old blurb from Totem Capital

John is the managing member of Totem Capital, a proprietary automated trading firm. Previously, John was the head of FX algorithmic trading at Elysium Capital. Prior to Elysium, he was head of trading for KATS LLC, an automated US Treasury trading group associated with Ronin Capital. His career started as the STRIPS trader at Deutsche Bank. John graduated from MIT with an MEng and SB in Electrical Engineering and Computer Science and also holds an M.S. in Mathematics from NYU where he focused on machine learning.

Let me know if you want me to make an intro. Also, tell me about the other stuff in my last email (contacting seth, martin, etc.)

Also, let's get together for tea and do some choral readings of the DSM-IV.