I got a job! Thank God. I just found out yesterday.. as I had to meet with her a 3rd time yesterday afternoon. [REDACTED] work out of her home in the west village. i begin Monday. how are you??

miss you!!

I'm [REDACTED] again today for the brunch party. I receive so many compliments on my style of music which is very encouraging - you would be proud. quite a few from other girls actually.. and I rarely receive compliments from girls I do not know..

the [REDACTED] ended up being only once a week for $10.50 an hour. I still have it and will work on Sundays as long as I don't get burnt out..

I met 5 guys in town from Sweden last weekend at the brunch I was [REDACTED] at, such lovely people so i invited them over for brunch the next day. I made cinnamon buns, banana bread, caprese salad, asparagus frittata, quinoa salad, fruit salad and a crudite and cheese plate. I invited a couple more friends over. We sat outside on my roofdeck for 5 hours. It was a wonderful day and reminded me of how much I do love NY and the spontaneity that this city offers.

I still want to cook one of my brunches for you! My specialty.
