All joking aside, how are you doing? I hope you are well. My mother in law had a sudden decline. I recognized it as a serious problem and got her in to see a specialist quickly. Has a brain tumor. Went from living alone and participating in Toastmasters for fun to being incapable of being left alone in a few days. Consequently, life has been rather busy for us, especially Karen.

I hope things are progressing in your matters & are not dominating much of your time or energy.
