Clever idea.

Not sure what he means by "POC" because proof of concept in a lab vs. mouse vs. human is a very different thing.

I am concerned more about the toxicity, metabolism, excretion and interactions at binding sites - but those may be modifiable.

What is your plan for this work? Are you hoping to introduce this/venture cap yourself? Should I share it with Boris?

Happy to talk to him about this, not sure what his expectations are. Suspect he is looking for funding. This type of med/treatment is not really geared at communicable disease (more about vaccines here) so I don't think he'll get traction. However, I may (and Boris may) be able to appeal this if the work is rigorous.

Jeffrey,

I selected a few pages from the presentation that explains the process. It would be great for you to meet with my friend Dr. Barany sometime . You would find him very interesting even you have no interest in the company. I did not hear anything back from [REDACTED] yet.
