Subject: why harvard has smart people...

I tried to explain this to you before when you had me meet with that weird so called AI guy... so here is another way of putting it

I went from Stanford to Yale to Northwestern the graduate students got progressively dumber; the undergraduates got markedly dumber when I went to NWU

it is no fun at all to teach dumb kids; that is one reason that any star professor wants to be at the best graduate schools; you can look which is best in your buddy's US News it doesn't matter if US news is accurate; the magazine makes it accurate because that is all the applicants know

it takes hubris to go to ASU; I had it when I went to NWU and I was mistaken; I couldn't fix the place by myself

if you want to pick a place to hang out, look up the departments that interest you in US News; that is where the smart people are -- every time -- no exceptions the best baseball players are never in the minor leagues
