Incredibly well. She asked great questions, and I focused on the positive. I also came up with a solution (or something that sounded like one) to her central concern -- I'll build a "conference center" off to one side, which will focus the new activities in a location that will not interfere with what is currently going on.

We'll see how it goes at the Board meeting next month.

It was good to see you -- I hope you had a good trip!
