Dear Jeffrey,

It was good to meet and talk the other day. By way of follow-up, a few attachments:

- 1) Letter from Moscow State University re collaboration. I am in touch with them and they remain interested in developing such a program. As we agreed, the challenge is to ensure its integrity, but this is a solvable problem. It can be a very worthwhile project and I would be willing to put thought and effort into it.
- 2) The "Creative Brain Institute" - a think tank initiative likely to involve The Venetian Institute www.istitutoveneto.it , NYU, and Oxford University.
- 3) Two proposals sent to John Templeton Foundation - just to give you a sample of the work we do and plan to do (there are other projects underway). Barnaby Marsh and I have been in discussions for some time about a wide range of projects.

Enjoy your travels. Look forward to being in touch.

All best,

Elkhonon
