Here is the interaction I had with Barnaby fyi. I went back to it to find it. I think it was even less suggestive than I remembered... I want to follow up on it.

I ran a session with Peter Singer that asked the question.. to see what people thought about interacting with Templeton in its present form.. the results were enlightening.. would be happy to share with you sometime.

Needless to say, I still think our Origins activities..ranging from our Origins of Morality workshop in Nov, to our Origins of Life on Earth in Feb, are worth considering a multimillion dollar gift to support, under the right conditions.. :)

I missed scifoo, but have been hearing things from some there about a talk on Templeton "corrupting" science... any light to shed on that/thoughts?

I think that debate is VERY healthy, by the way... ☺
