

To: jeff epstein[jeevacation@gmail.com]
From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Wed 5/5/2010 12:20:25 AM
Subject: rsvp

Hi Jeffrey,

I haven't had any response to my last 4 four emails, so i hope you're ok. I took my class jogging today and fell over one of the munchkins when she cut me off. I have two swollen, black and blue knees and a cut-up elbow. Where's the karma in this situation?

Then I had an appt. with the real estate agent, I had to sit with my bad knees for 2 hours while we pored over the documents for the pkg. I can't stand this woman anymore. It was a terrible afternoon until I heard from [REDACTED] when he landed this afternoon. He was excited that he sold two paintings. One to Sir NOrman Rosenthal (who invited him and the other young NY painter) to his home for tea and to view his art collection. [REDACTED] thought it was kind of funny that he was openly gay and also married with a daughter (and that he owns Manets as well as a [REDACTED]). The other painting was bought by someone in the Rose family. I'm so happy that his work is getting appreciated.

I'll keep you up to date about the apt. as things progress. Love// [REDACTED]