it is a great idea.
glad you got the site.
it's nice to see that your ideas do actually extend to social/squishy problems !
i didn't think you had it in you!

planting the idea into the brains of leadership will take some time.
i will first need to bake the idea a little more i really like the idea of writing one page concept notes for you and having you sharpen them.

i'm learning that any good idea should be simple and able to be described in one page or less.
things that are too complicated never work.

read about pristiq - looked at the data. interesting that it can't get approved in europe for two very scary reasons.
i'm going to dig a little deeper.
