Subject: are there actually still dollars out there looking to invest?

I ask because you said that a while back and my spanish partner (who is very good guy, no genius but a solid business background -- and smarter and a lot less crazy than dimitri) has a business plan for building a new university; it reads like an everyday business plan of the kind I can't even read much less write is there anyone out there who might ant to see it who you know?
