Dear [REDACTED]

It was a pleasure spending this time with you, and talking about what might be!

I have to say I am exhausted... And I am so looking forward to the future!

Talking about the future here we are! This is how I would like to see the next steps happen:

I would like to be able to send two of my assistants the Monday and Tuesday of week after next to gather all possible info and double check the info we already have. By the way how should I gather all the available info, who do you think I should talk to and ask? I just would love to be able to input in one plan all that is available and has been planned and then we can look at the future.

The rest of that week they would draft and put in all in black and white.

I am back at the end of the month, the 26th of April, that would leave me a week to elaborate the beginning of the projects and then we should all meet. Not sure the first week in May if Gary is not around but the 10th is fine.

What do you think? And then we can meet next week at 71st street.

Speak to you tomorrow, big kiss,

Robert,
