Hi,

It was fun talking to you last night, i seldom have the chance to talk to genetic suprematist. I'd like to share Erik's work with you, just click on the link below. He's excited about the London gallery exhibiting his work next month.

Also---I forgot to mention that my new diet includes beans and grains like quinoa which have protein and vitamins. If there's anything i can do to help with you with your education plan, i'm happy to help and free all summer. My specialty is literacy. My school had its quality review today, and the reviewer told me that she would love to have her grandchildren in my class. She said that was the highest compliment she could give a teacher. It feels very satisfying to be appreciated for good work.
