again,, as today is a good example, these photos would be helpful if you laid out numbers on or drew numbers on ground. please move entrance to the left , approx where the wall steps up... Brice in general,, divide every line(wall) into either three parts five parts or eight parts.. all architecture will be a combination of these three numbers,, three steps five steps. , ratio of 3to 5, or 5 to 8.. thanks . it is our unbroken rule,, from now on,, the ancient greeks had the idea,, not me
