Subject: Sliding door for kitchen

The sliding door company that we met with quoted me $6,400 for doing just the doors. To match the glass of the doors in the current partition would be extra. The guy (Ryan) who has the sample for me of the glass is stuck at a job out of town. This weather delayed his start today and can't make it back until late tonight. He is going to call me if he can get here any earlier so I may pick up the proposed plans from him and the glass sample.
