Hallo!

NYU AD fought off The Human Rights Watch and we did it with a first page article in the National stating how great we will treat our contractors. NYU Abu Dhabi has really set a new precedence to improve conditions for contractors.

Admissions has banned me from the Hospitality room during Candidate Weekend since I order too much room-service! Regardless, they don't really want me around kids anyway... Last time I told one of the students that at least this time around we didn't lose any students... There was dead silence.

A colleague called me and made the fatal mistake of informing me that I was on speaker. I knew he was with at least 3 other people so I shouted into the receiver: SO I CAN'T TALK DIRTY??? He very quickly picked up the phone and said with shaky voice: Well, you're not really supposed to anyway...
Just another day in higher education...

You have no idea what kind of drama is going on in the world of Higher Education...

Take care!
