Subject: Large Palms

For replacing the large Phoenix Dactyliferas, I've been working with Randy Melvin and they are available in Arizona or California, however the Arizona ones are probably better (I'll send photos when available). They all would be matched and we could get 25' or 30' or whatever size you wanted. The 30' clear trunk palms would be $7,500 each planted. We would need to tag the exact ones we want and then allow 30 days for digging, shipping & installation. I propose that we bring Randy over to LSJ to supervise the installation with our crew and crane.

So we can really get them anytime we need them, but the real reality is that we couldn't plant them until the construction is done which will 2 years be out.

According to Gary, the revised Gensler plans on the main house will be done in 4 months and then we could begin demolition and construction, so that is when we should move the existing palms down to the boat dock entry area.

Thoughts?
