This attitude won't get us very far.

I invited [REDACTED] to come once to make your day interesting even though I expressed in the past she is bad news. You don't say thank you and feel free to keep bringing her without me while you tell me to take the day off. To be clear, I don't care what you do with her today but the 'take the day off' response to everything is a step back not a step forward
