I sent email to [REDACTED], introducing her to John. Can she work with him on flights from San Juan to Miami or W. Palm, then back to Chicago? Also, on lodging?

I'll be in Seattle just before that. I can fly in the 19th or 20th -- will wait to see when John and Barnaby can get in. It's a full day from Seattle, so I may need to leave ahead. I'm sure I can amuse myself (or I can spend an hour or two with the people who are helping you get your body back !). I'll need to head to San Francisco on Monday. There's a slight chance that I'll need to be in SF before 2/22. I'll try to make this work, though.

Appropriate to assume [REDACTED] can work the travel and logistics with us? Is it a good idea for me to send her a food list? I had a couple of super nasty reactions in Dec. (to carrots and celery root, which strikes me as completely bizarre, but there it is...) and with advance planning this is easy to work around. Meanwhile, the new thyroid prescription has been fantastic.... and I'm finally losing a little weight with very little effort.

Again -- must ask -- no cookies??

Gave [REDACTED] a couple book titles -- John's work. I'm curious to hang with the two of you. He's brilliant, passionate, and knowledgeable across several disciplines.

I'm hoping there's a shot at an apartment at 301 -- Jan. 10-16, and here and there in Feb, March, April.
