Hi Jeffrey

Thanks for the advice. Good talking to you.

Two things I should have asked: What do you think of Harvard's financial situation and how long before they are out of it?

Where will physics be? I sense it's not such a priority now.

Second, I do want to follow up on the bad physicist thing. I let you slip out nicely but really -where is that coming from? I have a pretty solid track record- can't be my collaborator every time-

First more relevant I guess but second could be relevant if I'm isolated and need to attract people or resources. So let me know if you have another minute free-Lisa
