Hello Rich, Hello Jeffrey,

thanks for your call today. I hope all is well.

I can not provide you with anything in writing about my taxes.

My accountant didn't understand why you want something in writing about my taxes.

He says that I don't owe any taxes on the money from personal injury. He also said that if I do owe any money to the government, the IRS will ask me for it and that I don't have to provide anybody except the IRS with tax information.

So please, I have written to you everything you have asked in prior emails, now would you kindly write something for me that says that I do not owe you any money?

best regards,
