Hi Jeffrey!

I need your help! I know it has only been a couple of days back here, but I am so freaking miserable. I need out!

I have been thinking a lot and I think my best option is massage therapy. I think I can really do well in the field. I am willing to go anywhere that I will get the best education and certification and possibly the best place to work in the field after being certified.... Any Help!!!!!! Any Ideas??? I am willing to stay in New York, but the certification programs here take a lot longer.... about 16 months and that is full-time... as opposed to 7 months in Arizona or other states....

I will leave my cats, if need be... The only issue is my lease agreement that ends May 1, 2010. My rent is $1400 a month + electric.....

What do I do? How can I make this happen? Help me, please!!!!

ps- I like Len a lot, but I need to think about myself right now.... He makes me happy, but he is confused himself and who knows where he'll wind up.....
