

To: Jeffrey Epstein[jeevacation@gmail.com]
From: story cowles
Sent: Fri 10/23/2009 8:23:21 PM
Subject: landscape maintenance to start Monday

Randy's company will begin Monday morning at 10am. Randy's girlfriend will be on site Monday doing the maintenance. Randy is also working on setting up an appointment with a lighting company of his choosing.
Is this ok?

--- On Fri, 10/23/09, [REDACTED] <[REDACTED]> wrote:

From: [REDACTED]
Subject: (no subject)
To: [REDACTED]
Date: Friday, October 23, 2009, 3:46 PM

Story,
We can start Monday at 10a.m. We are going to bill you for a weeks maintenance, and on the first we will start a full billing cycle. We will pick up the Gusmanias (colorful bromeliads) Monday and have them done for Tuesday. My girlfriend will be there Monday doing the maintenance and she can quote you on the pots. She is also a great designer, so her on site will make it smoother if anything needs to be done.
I will have those phone numbers for you on Monday as well. Mr Epstein asked me about a lighting guy yesterday, I am setting up an appointment with one that I like. I will let you know about that as well.
Thank you and have a good weekend