It has been a month since Gadgetoff 2009 and we're still recovering. We have received lots of wonderful photographs and we are preparing to update the website and we are working on creating a Blurb book about the event. Speaking of Blurb, we noticed that the coupons were set to expire today. The great folks at Blurb realized that people didn't have enough time to collect their photos and put together books, so they have graciously extended the deadline until November 24th. Stop waiting. Make a book. They're great.

Speaking of books, now is also a great time to customize your Obama book. It takes about 5 minutes and it makes a terrific present. A number of folks who already made their books have raved about it.

We're also getting set to post videos of the presentations and exhibits in the next few weeks. We'll send out another email when they are ready. Japanese public television - NHK - just aired NY WAVE which featured Gadgetoff and Gadgetoff participant Zach Lieberman.

We are always on the lookout for new and interesting technology and people. Please keep your suggestions coming.

Thanks - Mike and Dan Dubno
