Hi, Brice I have reviewed the generator proposals with Doug and It is very hard for us to recommend pellecchia elect company when we have never worked with them before. Our recommendation is to install a single phase generator and the installation to be 100% turn key operation for the installation with all engineering and permits included. We recommend energy efficient electrical because they have been the electrician for the house for many years including the last renovation and their proposal pricing seems to be in order.
