Jeffrey this is behind you now, You did your penence and helped many people along the way. When Kimberly divorced me she told everyone I was a you know what and even put it in the papers. So I gave to womens charities that i had given to before anyway .and I got all those women back as friends. I suggest you endow a chair at some small college for womens excellence in Science and things like this will make everyonr forget. Now to important stuff, I was driving last night to a party and I saw Elizabeth on the street, she was walking with her young niece. I stopped the car and yelled hello. she looked to see who it was and then turned away without so much as a hello. What went so wrong and I am at wits end Should I do a hail Mary and buy a really expensive piece of jewellery and just drop it off?????? Please answer. Jonathan
