

To: jeff epstein[ieevacation@gmail.com]
From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Mon 7/6/2009 12:34:23 AM
Subject: open for suggestions

Dear Jeffrey,

Summer school didn't materialize because of budget cuts and Clas has left. Without work and my family to focus on, I'm lost. I'm reading (if you have a Kindle take a look at "Embracing the Wide Sky" by Daniel Tammet), exercising, and trying not to spend any money. I'm also working on being nonjudgmental and more accepting, so i don't lose anyone else in my life. Boy, I feel like I fucked up big time. My heart is broken again, but perhaps that's a good sign. I feel like I have to start all over and I don't have the energy.

How can a smart girl be so stupid? What to do? what to do?

Love, [REDACTED]