Jeffrey, Full white systems are rare, Bose Lifestyle seems to be the only full home theatre system in white, I'm not a fan of Bose as home theatre equipment unless size is a concern, this is what I found so far after visiting Best Buy, Circuit City and Audio Advisors, Option 1- Personally I would use small black satellite speakers to match the black frame of TV in kitchen, Audio Advisors is offering an open box sale, of an Infinity Black satellite speaker system with matching sub woofer, includes a Yamaha home theater receiver for power for $1,198.00 regular price was $1,999.00 they only have this floor model left to sell. I personally heard it,,not a bad sound for the price.

Option 2- Best Buy has Bose system for $2,999.00 in white that includes DVD or NEW BOSE LIFESTYLE 20 SERIES III DVD SYSTEM - WHITE on Ebay for $1,999.00 we would purchase a Blue Ray for DVD, preferred system.

Option 3 I like NHT speakers,, they manufacture a white book shelf speaker that sells for $149.00 each, regularly $249.00 direct from NHT,, we could then utilize a separate home theater receiver to complete the system with a matching subwoofer.

Absolute Zero (White)

2-way 5.25" mini-monitor.
9.8"H x 5.6"W x 7.3"D, 8 lbs.

MSRP: $230.00

Price: $149.00
