So funny to hear from you today. Last night I had a dream with you in it. Probably because I've been listening to lectures from this amazing British astrophysicist named Julian Barbour who writes about conflicting theories of time...

I'm up at our little house in Beacon... trying to figure out my future (yet again). Back in the city tomorrow. Lot's to discuss.

Are you finished with the special sleep-away camp yet?

Tell me a good time to call...
